

1. To disclose all facts - If the promoter has any interest or profit in acts, contracts, or transactions made during the promotion of the company, it is his duty to disclose such acts, contracts or transaction in to effect all the facts related to his interests and profits before the company,
2. To surrender the profits - If the promoter has earned any secret profit in any transaction related to the company during the promotion, without disclosing his interests, it is his duty to surrender the amount of that profit to the company.
3. Not to earn secret profit - Due to a fiduciary relationship with the company, it becomes the duty of the promoter not to obtain any kind of secret profit from the company.
4. To disclose personal interests and profit - If the promoter has any personal interest or profit by any ~~other~~ transactions at the company, it is his duty to disclose it.

—